

What are the Odds?

There is one vital statistic to which nobody (other than the banks and their sycophants, of course) is paying any attention. Recognising this statistic and using it will, literally, save humanity and our planet! It is this:

There are less than one million people, world-wide, who wish to maintain the present system of exploitation. There are 6.9 billion of us. Numbers difficult to grasp so let me re-state it so:

For every one of "them", there are nearly seven thousand of us!

The minute we act together is the same minute in which their system of exploitation will cease to exist.

This is why "they" spend billions on black propaganda and carefully staged acts of terror aimed at dividing us against ourselves - the technique devised and so successfully deployed by Julius Caesar; divide and conquer. If you can create internal strife within a country then a very small army can successfully take it over.

Once we grasp, however, that it is not WE who are doing these things but that we are ALL victims of the self-same theatrical propaganda campaign then it becomes much easier to solve the problem. When we all grasp that we have been conned into believing that any particular group, nation or whatever is "out to get us" and that the only ones who are truly out to get us are the self-appointed "elite" who've been exploiting us all along then we can act together to eliminate our sorrows at their source.

Current predictions - and there are many of them; some modern, some very ancient - all put the crunch date around the end of February 2016.

What are you going to do to prepare for this glorious event?

Karma Singh

20th April 2015

www.quantumpossibilities.co.uk

karmasingh@quantumpossibilities.co.uk

+44-203-286-6936

Book shop

www.karmabooks.co.uk